March is Women’s History Month in the United States. During this month, we celebrate women’s contributions to America. Ask students if they can name the famous women shown in the pictures (from left to right, top to bottom: Sacagawea, Dorothy Vaughan, Sonia Sotomayor, Susan B. Anthony, Rosa Parks, Amelia Earhart). Point to Picture 2 and say: On March 17, many people in the U.S. celebrate Irish culture. People wear green, eat green foods, and have parades. What is this holiday called? [St. Patrick’s Day] Point to Picture 3 and say: What do you see in this picture? [colorful flowers] There are four seasons: summer, fall, winter, and spring. Which season begins in March? [spring] Why do we see a lot of flowers in spring? [the temperature gets warmer and plants begin to grow back after winter is over] Point to Picture 4 and say: What do you see in this picture? [the words “I love you” written in many different languages] Raise your hand if you see words from a language you know. National Foreign Language Week takes place every March. It’s a time to talk about the importance of learning many languages. What languages do you know? [answers will vary]
